An Anticolonial Development: Race, Schooling, and Emancipation in Twentieth-Century West Africa.

Elisa Prosperetti, 2026.
Presented by Gerardo Serra
and Ettore Morelli.

In what measure could education be an agent of African freedom? Combining histories of race, economics, and education, this book examines this question in two West African contexts, Ghana and Côte d'Ivoire, from the 1890s to the 1980s.
